received more than 700 entries, and the popularity of oid Gravesend is assured for another season.

Ballot, Heimet, Dinna Ken, Priscillian, Baby Wolf, Sixty and others were in England last year, but they came home recently still fit to race, and turf patrons who remember their achievements in this country two years ago are glad to have them back. The weights for the three big handicaps will be made public by W. S. Vosburgh about the first of next month, and there will probably be much guessing between now and then as to his probable allotments. The two-year-old entries are interesting if only for the fact that James Butler and Jobe A. Drake have sent in some notable nominations. Mr. Drake, whose colors have not been seen on the local tracks for two years, is represented, by a string of Ort Wells youngsters, who have been highly tried and will be trained by the veteran kaoch Wishard. Mr. Butler's two-year-olds are by Stalwart, Belvidere, Woolsthorpe and Ort Wells, while he will also be represented in numerous fixtures by the three-year-old filly Turf Star, for whom thorpe and Ort Wells, while he will also he represented in numerous fixtures by the three-year-old filly Turf Star, for whom he paid $10,000 last summer. The Belmont two-year-olds include some promising colts and fillies by the great Rock Sand, while the first of Adam's get in this country will hear the colors of the Newcastle Stable. It may be said therefore that the prospects for good racing this year are brighter than usual, which is due to the persistent fight the Jockey Club has made to keep the sport alive.

Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyns said resterday that these players would be taken to Hot Springs for preliminary training: Pitchers, Bell, Dessau, Hunter, Melatire, Rucker, Scanlon, Schnelberg, Wilhelm, Dent and Fletcher; Catchers, Bergen, Erwin, King, Miller and Ulrich: Infielders, Daubert, Hummel, Jordan, Lennox, McFlyeen, McMillan and Sentelle: Outfielders, Wasat, Burch, Lumley, Downey, Schirm, Meyers and Blakely. President Ebbets has used over Holly, Pattee, Alperman and Holmes to the Rochester Eastern League olds. He has inserted a clause in the club's contract sent to each Brooklyn player prohibiting "barn storming" trips.

In Outfielder Shaw, just purchased by the New York Nationals, Manager McGraw sars he has picked up a first class hitter who will strengthen the Giants in this important department of the game. Shaw played ninety-six games with the St. Louis Cardinals last year, cracking out 97 hits in 367 times at bat. He is said to be a trifle weak on fly balls, but McGraw is confident that he can smooth the rough edges. Shaw is a well built, active fellow who, according is a well built, active fellow who, according to the Giants' leader, simply needs expe-rence, and several pretty good baseball judges say he will be an improvement over the men who played left field at the Polo Grounds last year.

The New York Americans have sold Outleders Channell and Farrell and Second Haseman Wanner to the Memphis club of the Southern League.

Spectacular. Prof. A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago said recently of the intended changes in the rules of football: "Out of the vast number of suggestions that will be up before the rules committee we hope to evolve a game that will satisfy all reasonable people. It undoubtedly will be a sarer brand of football than we have heretofore had and should be more spectacular as well. It is hard to say which of the reforms are most likely to find favor with the final indges. One could not tell from the deliberations so far."

Of soccer he said: "That Chicago-Illinois game, followed by the soccer league proposal, has given some the impression that I am losing myself in enthusiasm over soccer. Such is not the truth. I don't even know that the game will take here. At present it is only in the experimental stage. It may not survive beyond this year. We want to give soccer a thorough tryout. provisional challenge for the international cup received last week from the Hurlingham Club of London. The committee has held several meetings. President Herbert and Secretary Hazard have been in special charge of the matter and they have prepared the reply.

The Americans will assert a willingness to play the Hurlingham team for the cup at any time and place, but they request that as soon as possible the provisional be replaced by a formal challenge. Stress is to be laid on the importance of an early arrival so that if possible the match may be played during August, when the season at Newport and Narragansett Pier is at its height. If the team does not come until September the matches will probably be at Meadow Brook or Cedarhurst.

As when the Meadow Brook team played at Hurlingham the match will be the best two out of three games. American rules will govern the play and the Englishmen are already practising the offside game so as to be familiar with our conditions.

AMONG THE AUTOMOBILISTS

E. A. MOROSS SAYS SPEEDWAYS ARE VERY EXPENSIVE.

Director of Indianapolis Course Does Not Expect Many New Tracks to Be Built Owing to Their Great Cost-De Palma, Robertson and Strang to Hace

Ernest A. Moross, director of contests for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, said yesterday that he did not think that half of the specially constructed automobile racetracks now talked of in different parts of the country would ever be built. Moross came East to interview S. M. Butler the new chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, and was a visitor at the Grand Central Palace automobile show last night.

He explained that while he does not doubt hat all of the men in various cities who have peen discussing the construction of great earnest in their desire to have a big track for their cities, he thinks that perhaps a majority of them have underestimated the mount of money that must be spent before the tracks can be opened for speed contests.

He thinks it might be possible to build a big two or three mile track somewhere near Detroit, as there is a chance of interesting the many automobile manufacturers of that city in such a project in a financial way, as the track would provide a course upon which their experimental cars and designs for later seasons could be tried out for hundreds of miles at top speed before the models were offered to the public. He expressed some surprise that no definite plan has yet been announced for the building of a specially constructed motordrome representative of the track.

It was announced yesterday that the expenditure of money for the transformation of Madison Square Garden for the automobile show which opens on Saturday night at 8 o'clock for one week has been increased from $30,000 to $35,000. Judging by the elaborate color prints of the interior color scheme and decorations made by the decorator, one could imagine that it will cost more than the sum named before the decorations are finished.

The work of transforming the big structure is progressing rapidly and is nearly finished. W. W. Knowles, the decorator, has added a number of tradesmen to the gang of 200 that originally started on the work last Monday. Already the big steel girders have been covered with thousands of yards of azure blue cloth which gives a sky effect to the dome. Huge are lamps with colored shades are suspended at frequent intervals from the dome. The boxes that from the arens have been draped. These boxes will seat 1,000 persons and will be a distinctive feature that never before has been seen at any New York automobile show. At the arena entrance of the Garden interior plasterers are modeling a Roman fountain which is fronted by a curving seat for visitors.

The Big Doric columns that extend around the outer edge of the elevated platform are now in place. These columns are twenty-five feet high and are surmounted with the show emblem—an eagle on a wheel. The columns are painted white and the emblems are of gold and will be illuminated by thy electric lights. The walls throughout the building that back the exhibits are covered with cartridge paper of a rich golden hue.

Work was started Tuesday in the concert hall and the men employed there are put-

Gov. Fort's proposal for a boulevard to run the whole length of the coast of New Jersey has heretofore met with more popular enthusiasm than approval by those bodies who are to undertake some of the cost. There exists now an excellent highway from Atlantic City to the neighborhood of Sandy Hook, the upper stretches of which are wide and beautifully maintained. From Toms River to Atlantic City it will be necessary to widen the road to make it a boulevard, but this involves no engineering problems of difficulty and not a vast amount of money. The difficulty lies in making the extension from Atlantic City to Cape May.

The estimated cost of a great steel structure to connect Ocean City with Longport, the southern suburb of Atlantic City, is so great that Atlantic City freeholders had lost enthusiasm over the project. It appears that the people of Atlantic City are not the southern suburb of Atlantic City, is so great that Atlantic City freeholders had lost enthusiasm over the project. It appears that the people of Atlantic City are not that the people of Atlantic City are not enthusiastic over the proposition that will remove the comparative insularity of their city. Atlantic City is easily the most popular ocean resort in the country, but better means of ingress and egrees by automobile would add to its patronage rather than detract from it. The owners of automobiles at Atlantic City are practically cut off from Cape May and vicinity. It is true that it is possible to go by way of Mays Landing, but the road is not good and is particularly uninteresting. Atlantic City is now cut off from a lot of visitors who would come from the southeast if they had the chance. A bridge across the inlet at Great Harbor Bay need not be elaborate and expensive. The channel span need not be very long and there are no engineering or other difficulties. A road to Townsend's Inlet exists and could be easily improved into a boulevard. Bridges there and from Stone Harbor to Avalon would not be expensive and then the road to Cape May is easy. Considering the great amount of pieasure such a boulevard would give and the amount of new money it would land in New Jersey the State could afford to be liberal in the matter and the counties ought to be willing to do their share. The Cape May people are taking action.

The Britishers are inclined to be luxurious when it comes to the fittings for their taxicabs, as was proved recently when the versatile S. F. Edge fitted flower vases in every one of a half dozen Napier cabs he furnished to an operating company in Dundee.

"This is an extract from our by-laws," added Mr. Hemment, "and not a new ruling, and we desire to give every one a fair chance to know the consequences of skating in meets under foreign sanction." In his report Chairman Herrmann made an emphatic statement on the subject of the criticisms that had been advanced on the findings of the commission by various club owners. On this latter subject Mr. Herrmann expressed the opinion that the malcontents either should be made to hold their peace or that steps should be dissolved.

DURLAND'S RIDING NIGHT. Home Team Beats Cricklewoods in Polo

Indoor polo and a game of pushball were rival attractions at the Durland Riding Academy last night. After the usual music ride, which brought out fifty couples, with Charles Krauss in command, the poloplayers took possession of the tanbark. Earl Hopping. Harry Guggenheimer and Thomas Ford, the Cricklewood team, played a strong game, but they could not defeat the wiry little Durlands. Archie Kinney on his agile black pony made some clever plays, and Edward Cohen and Jack Breen, who made up the home team, each made a gagi. At the end of two fifteen made a geal. At the end of two fifteen minute periods the score stood 4 to 2 in favor of the Durland boys.

The push ball game was strenuous and at the end of the first period both sides they had had enough. tugged, they thumped, they pummelled the ball and chased Senator Gordon Smith. who refereed the game, over the rail into the boxes, but all to no avail. The ball rethe boxes, but all to no avail. The ball refused to go in the narrow space between the two red ribbons. When the whistle was blown for a cessation of hostilities it was just in time to save the lives of the gallant six players.

The high iumping contest, which is always a feature, was won by Thomas Kinney's chestnut gelding Former. Clarence Sherin's Bound Brook competed for the honors, but his performance was not quite up to the mark, and he had to take second place.

was built by Henderson & Co. at Glasgow in 1895 from designs by G. L. Watson. Her dimensions are 203 feet between perpendiculars, 193.45 feet on the water line, 28.7 feet beam, 15.35 feet depth and 588 gross tonnage. She is a steel vessel with two decks and four bulkheads. She is fitted with triple expansion engines. Col. Thompson and his family are now on the Nile. They will return in a few weeks to Alexandria and join the Catania for a cruise to the Far East, which will last about six months. Last winter Col. Thompson made a long cruise in the steamship Mineola, which had fitted up like a yacht.

The Everglades, Col. Thompson's houseboat, has been chartered to H. S. Redmond, and Mr. Redmond and his family will spend the winter on that vessel in Florida waters.
